Kids Kollege 2012 Classes & Instructors:

THE SKY IS BLUE AND ALIEN BLOOD BUBBLES! Andrea Bower: Do your eyes deceive you sometimes?? Join Andrea in a series of experiments to decide if the sky is really blue? If it's blue all the time, why is it dark when it's stormy outside or at night? In addition to proving the blue, we'll perform bunches of experiments to laugh, scratch our heads and ask "how did that happen?" We'll wrap up the week by making alien blood … and it bubbles!!!

RED, WHITE & STARRY BLUE, Brandy Hatfield*: Get ready to celebrate Independence Day with these fun and festive projects in honor of Old Glory! We'll make a variety of take-home projects ranging from a real star-spangled banner to fireworks (MINUS the dangerous stuff!), to dazzling windsocks and customized huggies. Then we'll wrap the week up with a real Hop – Skip – and BANG!

TENNIS, Sean Ayers: Students are taught the basic skills of tennis – for eye-hand coordination skills, competitiveness and fun. This class will include rules, mini-tennis fundamentals, and shot production. For those with some tennis skills, Sean will use a more intermediate approach to the game.

IF YOU GIVE A KID A MOUSE, Shane Skaggs: What can a kid, a mouse and a monitor accomplish? You'll be amazed! It's truly amazing what a kid, a mouse and a monitor can and will accomplish in this class. All kinds of fun stuff will be introduced. Surf the 'net for unbelievably fun and neat things for kids. Take home bunches of special projects!

WILD & WACKY FLYING PIGS, Nicki Lucas: Centered on gravity, kids will work in small groups to design and apply the downward force of gravity to accelerate balls down a series of crazy ramps, gears and levers. We'll analyze how each piece of the puzzle influences velocity and momentum of steel balls and contraption pieces. The ultimate goal? The thrilling launch of the helmet-wearing stunt pig!!!

FUN & FIT, TJ Bower: Who knew getting and staying fit could be so much fun? This class is designed to introduce kids to exciting games, stretching techniques and proper nutritional intake to enhance outdoor activity. This course will consist of a variety of age-appropriate games. Exercise and fun at the same time? Who knew???
